Dear quality professionals,
Dear friends,

It is my honor and pleasure to invite you to 13th Annual Congress of Asian Network for Quality (ANQ) scheduled to be held in Taipei during 23-24 September 2015.

For last decade ANQ has been working hard on promoting quality in Asia and as a result ANQ Annual Congress by right has managed to take its place on the lines of other world annual quality events like ASQ Annual Conference, EOQ Congress and other.

We are proud that at present ANQ Congresses attract attention of large professional audience but even more noteworthy is the fact that majority of our participants includes young quality specialists who appreciate and understand key addresses on global issues of quality. At the same time delegates have an opportunity to obtain actual practical experience by attending parallel Congress Sessions on different quality aspects.

ANQ has obtained strong positive experience on organizing of Congresses previously held in Tokyo, Singapore, Bangkok, Seoul, Hong Kong and other Asian cities and we are sure that Taipei ANQ Congress2015 will soon be added to our list of successful ANQ events. International Experience of CSQ, scientific approach and top professional level of Congress Organizing Committee alongside with traditional friendly attitude of Taipei citizens and good location of Congress create best environment for the grand success of the Congress in Taipei in September this year.
